Bracelet:

Normal method of computation:  $£6,375 - £3,250 = £3,125$  (1/2)

Chattels Rule\*:  $(£6,375 - £6,000) \times 5/3 = £625$  (1)

*The bracelet is tangible moveable property which will last for more than 50 years (ie not a wasting asset) (1/2). As the sale proceeds exceed £6,000 and the original cost was less than £6,000, the 5/3rds chattels rule will apply (1/2).

The lower of the two figures (i.e. £625) is subject to Capital Gains Tax (1/2).

Watch:

The watch is a wasting asset as it has a predictable useful life not exceeding 50 years (1/2). Wasting assets are exempt from Capital Gains Tax (1/2).

The assets gifted to Dave by Rodney have decreased in value between the date of gift and the date of death (1/2). Dave can make a “fall in value” claim under s.131 IHTA 1984 (1/2).

The holiday home: The value used to calculate the death Inheritance Tax on the Potentially Exempt Transfer of the holiday home will be the lower valuation (1/2). The fall in value claim is calculated between the value at the date of gift (1/2), being £405,000 and the value at the date of death, being £295,000 (1/2) so the latter value is used to calculate the IHT due on death (1/2). (However, the original value of the PET is still carried forward for cumulation purposes. (1/2))

Holiday home contents: A fall in value claim cannot be made for the furniture contents (1/2) as these are wasting chattels (1/2). A wasting chattel would not be expected to have a useful life exceeding 50 years and is therefore expected to reduce in value (s.132 IHTA1984) (1/2).

Cash: No claim can be made in respect of the fall in value of the neighbouring property purchased for rental, as the original gift to Dave was cash (1/2).

For Inheritance Tax purposes, the investment portfolio is treated as belonging to Lottie and will be included in her estate on death (1/2). A Bare Trust does not fall within the relevant property regime (1/2) and is not subject to exit charges or principle charges (1/2).

As the fund is taxed as though it belongs to Lottie, the income is taxed in her hands at her marginal rates (1/2). The income tax rates applicable to trusts do not apply to Bare Trusts (1/2).

A Bare Trust is taxed as though the beneficiary owns the trust assets (1/2) so any capital gains from the disposal of any trust asset will be taxable on Lottie (1/2).

Credit will be given for any other valid comments.

The income retains its nature in Lucy's hands (1/2). She will be able to use her personal allowance, savings allowance and dividend allowance against the trust income in calculating her income tax liability (1/2). She will be able to claim an income tax refund by completing a repayment claim form R40 (1/2).

Hannah bought the stock on 30 May 2017 with the right to receive the interest payment on 30 June (1/2). Hannah therefore paid the executors a higher price for the stock to reflect the "accrued income" (1/2).

The executors will need to adjust the sale proceeds to exclude the accrued income element as this will be subject to Income Tax, not Capital Gains Tax (1/2).

Hannah will be able to deduct the accrued income element of the cost incurred on 30 May 2017 from the interest payment received on 30 June 2017 and she will pay Income Tax on the net amount (1/2).

The replacement business asset must qualify for business property relief (BPR), but need not be exactly the same type of asset as that sold (eg an interest in a trading partnership can replace shares in an unlisted trading company) (1).

BPR will be available if the aggregate ownership periods of the original and replacement business asset totals at least two of the five years immediately before the transfer where relief is claimed (1). In other words, the new business asset must be acquired within 3 years of the disposal of the original business asset (1).

BPR on the replacement business property cannot exceed that which would have been available on the original business property owned (1).

The sale proceeds of the original business property must be used to acquire (ie replace) the replacement business property (1).

A domicile of dependency may be acquired by a child under the age of 16 (1/2); when a parent (usually their father (1/2) although it could follow the mother or legal guardian (1/2)) changes their own domicile (1/2) the child will automatically acquire the same new domicile as that parent (1/2).

Where a non-UK domicile of dependency is acquired, only the child's assets situated within the UK are subject to UK Inheritance Tax (1/2). Assets situated outside of the UK are deemed "excluded assets" (1/2) and are outside the scope of UK Inheritance Tax (1/2).

Poppy has made a disposal to Iris for Capital Gains Tax purposes (1/2). The disposal proceeds for the capital gain calculation will be the market value at the date of the gift on 16 January 2018 (ie £265,000) (1/2) and the cost will be the probate value on Daisy's death (ie £235,000) (1/2). A gain £30,000 will arise on the gift and the tax will be payable by Poppy (1/2). Iris will acquire the property with a base cost equal to the market value at the date of gift (1/2).

Any income during the period from Daisy's death to the date of the gift to Iris will be attributable to and taxable on Poppy (1/2). Income arising after the date of the deed of variation will be taxable on Iris (1/2).

A Pre Owned Asset Tax charge in relation to land arises where:

- 1) The donor continues to benefit from land they previously owned, (1/2) whether directly or indirectly (1/2).
- 2) The transfer does not fall within the Gifts With Reservation rules (1/2).

The amount subject to Income Tax is known as the "appropriate rental value" (1/2). This is the annual open market rental amount (1/2) which should be reviewed every 5 years (1/2). Any rent paid under a legal obligation (1/2) for the use of the land will be deductible when calculating the amount liable to income tax (1/2).

Memorandum

To: Tax Partner

From: Tax Assistant

Date: 2 May 2018

Subject: Estate of John Linley deceased

Format mark (1)

1) Taxation of interim distributions

A residuary beneficiary is taxed on income from the estate when they receive it (1/2); they are not treated as receiving income as it arises (1/2).

The income will have already been taxed via the estate tax return at basic rates (1/2), and this reclaimable basic rate tax credit passes to the beneficiary (1/2). If the beneficiary is a higher or additional rate taxpayer they will have further Income Tax to pay on the distribution (1/2).

The income retains its character, (1/2) so it may utilise the beneficiary's Personal Savings Allowance or Dividend Allowance if applicable (1/2). It is deemed to be paid first from non-savings income, interest and then dividends. (1/2)

2) Amendment of the estate tax return

A taxpayer has the right to amend a return already submitted within 12 months of the due date for filing (1/2). The 2016/17 return was due to be filed by 31 January 2018 (1/2), and so the PRs have until 31 January 2019 to write to HMRC to inform them of the error (1/2).

The due date for payment of the 2016/17 estate Capital Gains Tax liability was 31 January 2018 (1/2).

3) Requirements for a valid will

For a will to be valid, the following requirements must be met:

- It must be in writing (1/2)
- It must be signed by the testator (1/2)
- The testator's signature must be witnessed by two persons who are present together when the testator signs the will (1/2)
- The witnesses must then each sign the will in the presence of the testator and of each other (1/2)
- The testator must be sui juris (over 18 and have mental capacity) (1/2)
- The testator must intend the will to be operative as a testamentary disposition (1/2)
- The will should be dated (1/2)

[Scottish alternative

For a will to be valid:

- It must be in writing (1/2)
- It must be subscribed by the testator (1/2)
- It must be signed at the end (1/2)
- However, if it is witnessed by one witness and if it extends over more than one sheet, each sheet is signed by the testator, the will is also presumed to be validly signed (1)
- The testator must comprehend the nature of the testamentary act (1/2)
- The testator must be at least 12 years old (1/2) ]

5) Fee payments on account and in advance

The terms of such payments should be incorporated into the letter of engagement before the member starts to act for the client (1).

Any such payments should be reasonable in amount in relation to the likely level of fee which will be charged for the work performed (1).

Where professional work paid for in advance by the client is not carried out, such fees paid in advance must be repaid (1).

Substantial payments in advance should be treated with caution (1).

A member should ensure that he has sufficient funds (including interest) available to refund the client where necessary (1).

The member should ensure that there is proper accounting for any VAT that may arise in respect of payments on account or advance payments (1).
